LIQUOR CONTROL

VINDICATION OF THE WAR-TIME BOARD.

The cable to-day forshadowing more drastic regulations respecting the sale of liquor lends added interest to the following report of a recent debate in the House of Commons initiated by Colonel Gretton, who moved—

That in the opinion of this House the Central Control Board (Liquor Traffic) should no longer be independent of the control of Parliament, and that its proceedings and expenditure should be made subject to the control of the Minister responsible to Parliament.

Colonel Gretton said the Control Board was set up under the Defence of the Realm Act for the purpose of controlling the liquor traffic in munition areas, in areas concerned in the transport of troops and munitions, and in areas in which troops were being trained. As a matter of fact it had greatly exceeded its powers, and its action now covered practically the whole of the United Kingdom. Parliament was never told that the Government intended to set up a Board which would be empowered to exercise these drastic powers without any control of a Government department. There was nothing in the regulations which dealt with the question of finance, and he did not believe the House of Commons believed when they agreed to the setting-up of the Board that they were giving them authority to enter upon a policy of the State purchase, not only of licensed houses, but also of breweries.

CARLISLE EXPERIMENT.

The Carlisle experiment was not yet in working order, but he understood inquiries were already being made in Hull with the object of entering upon another vast experiment. The Carlisle transaction would involve an expenditure of half a million of money. Surely Parliament ought to have control over such an expenditure as that. The constitution of the Control Board was certainly open to criticism. None of its members had any expert knowledge of the liquor trade, and he could not help expressing surprise that the interests of the working classes were left in the hands of the member for Blackburn (Mr. Snowden). The Board had exceeded the functions entrusted to it by Parliament, had acted tyrannically towards the licensed trade and towards the public, and without the authority of Parliament had entered upon a policy of the State purchase of licensed property out of money voted for the carrying on of the war. (Cheers.)

Mr. Montagu said the nation owed a deep debt of gratitude to the members of the Liquor Control Board, who had worked ungrudgingly and without remuneration. (Cheers.) He believed their work had been of great importance. In what respect did the mover think the Board was not sufficiently controlled? No order for scheduling an area was made except on the recommendation of the Ministry of Munitions, and they were responsible to the House. He submitted that in the circumstances there was ample control, and even more than was contemplated by that House when the Bill was passed. They deliberately made the Board independent of Parliament, and he maintained that if every order was to be discussed and debated in Parliament the Board would have achieved nothing. The effectiveness of the Liquor Board was proved by the fact that the weekly average of convictions for drunkenness in England from January to September 1915 was 1,407 and for January to September 1916 it was 837. In Scotland the corresponding figures were 725 and 460.

It was said by some that these reductions were due to the large number of men who had gone abroad, but that was not the case, because the drop in the number of convictions came immediately after the imposition of the restrictions, whereas the new men abroad had been going steadily throughout the war. Further, the diminution in the convictions for drunkenness was not redress to the equally injured women.

As regards beer, from April to September 1915 the consumption of beer was 13,000,000 gallons, and in 1916 during the same period 13,000,000 gallons were consumed.

spirits, from January to September 1915 fifteen million gallons were consumed, and this sank to 8,000,000 gallons this year.

NO TREATING ORDER.

Mr. Leif Jones reminded the House of the circumstances under which the Control Board was brought into existence. The Government, finding themselves unable to solve the drink problem as it was affected by the war, handed over the problem unsolved to the Board of Control. Now the House was asked in the public interest to reduce the powers which it entrusted to the Board 18 months ago. Had the Government made up its mind how the problem should be dealt with?

He believed the shortening of hours and the no treating order had been a great advantage to the country. He hoped that the Carlisle experiment would be extended to other areas.

Colonel Hall Walker: Is the hon. gentleman aware that since the Government scheme has been in operation the number of convictions for drunkenness in Carlisle has increased? Mr. Leif Jones said it was too early yet to say what would be the effect of the scheme. He agreed with Colonel Gretton that the House did not intend to authorise the Board of Control to indulge in vast experiments for the reduction of the liquor traffic. The hon. member in conclusion expressed the hope that the Board of Control would prohibit the sale of all intoxicating liquors in the areas under its control. Since the outbreak of war the people of this country had spent £200,000,000 on the purchase of intoxicating liquors, and the cost of maintaining the liquor traffic could not be put at less than a million pounds a day.

Major Astor said there was abundant testimony from the Naval and Army Departments that the restrictions upon the sale of drink had been extremely beneficial.

LABOUR SUPPORTS THE BOARD.

Mr. J. H. Thomas said the working classes were not anxious to be relieved of restrictions which were properly placed upon other classes of the community. He protested against the way in which trade unionism was being exploited by the opponents of the Board of Control, and he said that the workmen of that country, as a body, had authorised opposition to the regulations. There could be no question that there was better time-keeping where the Board of Control had effectively done its work. (Cheers.) He agreed that the Control Board was set up to act as a temperance reformer. But where they found that the efficiency of the nation was being impaired for work through drink, they were justified in doing all that they had done and a great deal more.

On September 30 a date was interrupted to allow the new Beer Closing Order to be discussed.

WHITE FLAGS WAVED TO OUR FLYING MEN.

ENEMIES IN TRENCHES SIGNAL THEIR SURRENDER.

A recent Air Board report includes a notable example of readiness to surrender on the part of Germans at some point on the West Front.

On September 29 it is stated a contact patrol machine had driven through at between 300 and 400 feet during the morning. The Germans in the trench held up their hands and waved white handkerchiefs. This information was transmitted to the ground station, and the Germans shortly afterwards surrendered to our troops.

WAR IN THE COTTAGE.

Of all the sad scenes of war's result there is none more heart-rending and pathetic than in the lonely cottage of a Scottish glen when the dread news comes.

Something there is in the surrounding that sharpens the contrast of beauty and strength to the young human life cut off.

It all stands vivid to the eye. The little curly-headed boy playing in a ragged kiln by the burn-side, the big strong lad at the plough helping his father on the croft; the call to arms, and a gallant stripping himself down the bare hill-side and taking his head high, his heart full.

His head high, his heart full, he goes to the foot of the brae where it joins the high road he turns and waves his Glen-garry; his mother and sister stand at the door, the little white-washed thatched "hoozie" is silhouetted against the bright sun on whose giant side it nestles.

Simple enough pictures, repeated again and again of times these last two years throughout the length and breadth of Scotland, but none the less heroic and deep-moving for all their repeated simplicity.

David MacDonald was an instance of such; but though he was one of many of thousands of young Highlanders who went to the call, he was none the less his mother's son and his father's pride.

He had lived all his young life, under the shadow of the great ben, had gone to the school along the road, had laughed and whistled and sung, and cried and played, truant like every boy, had grown to manhood, tall and straight and fearless in body and mind.

He had the dark Highland eyes, with the fresh colouring, and hair that the burn waters had curled, and the sun had bronzed. He worked on the croft with his father and elder and younger brothers, and his mother and sister never had a rough word from him.

When the war storm burst he was seventeen. Away went his elder brother, and a few months later David followed, into a Territorial battalion of Scotland's proudest Highland regiment. Now and again he comes home for a few days' furlough during his training, and at last in the early spring, while the snow is still deep on the ben, he came to say good-bye. It's France and the Front this time; the boy is bursting with joy and pride that it's the real thing at last.

His elder brother has been out there a year, has been slightly wounded, and is now back in the trenches. It's all right, all his friends are already there or going with him. So he goes, brave and bright and smiling.

Into the fight.

Beyond to the light.

It was a bright cold April evening, a bitter wind blew straight out over the snows on the ben's crest. We had been out on a long day in the small motor, and the thought of home and a fire was welcome, but something still lay before us on our homeward way.

That morning news had filtered through that David MacDonald had been killed "out there," he and another boy from the district, by an enemy trench mortar as they were sitting in their trench. Instantaneous—oh, yes, but it's another kind of instantaneous for the women at home—less merciful, it doesn't kill outright.

"I want to go and see his mother," she said, and we went. Such visits are mounting up. There is not a house or homestead or cottage in all that wide Highland district where the deadly little orange envelope has found his way, that has not been followed by that tall, stately figure. Her people love her coming, with the quiet, deep note of sympathy in the voice, the warm hand-shake, and the soft look in the grey northern eyes. They know that in war and death sorrow there is neither class nor rank, and that their Lady's heart shares it all with them.

So we leave the high road, and mount up the steep, stony path that only a fortnight ago echoed to the swinging step of young David as he strode down for the last time.

We pass through the low door into the white-washed kitchen. A girl is stirring the porridge pot over the peat fire; after a word of greeting she turns silently back to her work. There is a big iron away in the open fire-place, and a nice old dresser against the wall opposite the window; curious how details catch the eye unconsciously, when the mind is elsewhere.

the Peace Settlement—a renunciation by Germany of her ambitions to world dominion by the sword. Be it observed that the destruction of Prussian Militarism does not necessarily involve the wholesale slaughter of the Kaiser's Army; it could be achieved by a sweeping reduction in German armaments under international guarantees. That has either to be done voluntarily by Germany or under compulsion by the Powers, and until it is done there can be no hope of Peace. The German Chancellor's boasts about the military strength of Germany, made for the comfort and consolation of the German people and also to make the proper impression in neutral countries necessary to the success of the great bluff, are unlikely to have the terrifying effect they were doubtless calculated to have on the Entente nations. The Allied War Staffs are confident of their ability to achieve victory in the war and it is difficult to resist the impression that the Teuton-Bulgaria-Turk readiness to enter upon Peace negotiations is evidence of a conviction that the bubble has been inflated to bursting point.

THE MAGISTRACY.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST A CONCUBINE.

CHARGE BY OFFICER IN HUNG SHUI LUNG'S ARMY.

A Military Officer in China, actually a captain in Hung Shui Lung's army, prosecuted a concubine in Mr. Wood's Court this morning on a charge of stealing, as bailee, $2,000 in bank notes, $200 in cash and furniture and clothing valued at $400. Hung Shui Lung is Military Governor of Weichow and was recently proceeded against in Hongkong on an extradition requisition from the Canton Government for an offence committed at Sam-to-chuk. The Canton Government Gazette offered $10,000 for his capture. The Court at Hongkong refused to grant the warrant holding the offence to be political, but Hung Shui Lung was rearrested on his discharge on a deportation order and eventually he went to Japan, returning to Weichow, the scene of his former activities, soon after the death of the late President. He is a bitter opponent of Lung Chai Kwong and their respective troops fought frequently against each other in the recent disturbances in and around Canton.

The complainant in to-day's case has been assisting Hung Shui Lung at Weichow and produced documents of his appointment. He declared that when he went to Weichow in September last he gave the money and articles mentioned over to the care and custody of defendant, whom he bought from a charitable institution at Canton. She was his only concubine and he had a wife. While in Weichow he corresponded with defendant and a boat builder at Taikoo Dock used to reply on her behalf.

Inspector Sim said that was no doubt the man who complainant thought the defendant was now cohabiting with.

Complainant stated that on his return to Hongkong, he found the defendant had left their old address and taken everything with her. He found out through a friend that she was living in a house in Queen's Road. He saw the boat builder, who advised him to abandon the woman as she was no good but he felt he could not do that as he had left so much property with her.

The woman, who was well dressed in black silk, told a very different story. Originally she said she was kidnapped and brought to Hongkong. She did not admit she was a concubine. He had deceived her and told her he had no wife and that she was to be treated as his lawful wife. He paid the first month's rent of her cubicle and latterly she had to pay. He gave her no money for maintenance and had given instructions to the boat builder to pay her $6 a month for food and $3 for rent. She received that only part of the time. She was compelled to change her address as the principal tenant said she was a doubtful character. Complainant had never given him the money or the clothing. The furniture was practically all hers.

Mr. Wood adjourned the case as he said he could not decide until hearing the boat builder.

ARMED ROBBERY AT SHANGHAI.

EUROPEAN LADIES ATTACKED IN A BUNGALOW.

The "N. C." Daily News of the 9th inst. states:—Mr. H. E. Meny reported to the North Szechuen Road police station on Thursday night that his bungalow on Kiangnan Road near the Hongkong Park had been visited, at 6.30 o'clock, by armed robbers while he was absent. There were six men in the gang, two with revolvers. They bound and gagged Mrs. Meny and two small and a small one room. While this was going on Mr. Meny's mother arrived in a rickshaw and the robbers at once attacked her. Her cries attracted the attention of a hawker who was still at the gate and he began to shout, whereupon the robbers cleared out, taking the road toward Kiangnan. They carried with them a camera and jewellery valued at $500 which they took from a safe.

UNNECESSARY WORDS.

CANTON AT PEACE.

INTERVIEW WITH H.E. THE CIVIL GOVERNOR.

NORTH AND SOUTH UNITED.

Canton is at peace. Lung Chai Kwong, the Military Governor, has gone, and his antagonist General Shum is in Shanghai. Quiet reigns supreme—for the time being. An excellent rice crop has put the inhabitants in good humour, which apart from interferences will last until the Spring at any rate.

H. E. Chu Hing Lan, the Civil Governor of Canton, who arrived in Hongkong to-day at the invitation of H. E. The Governor Sir Henry May K.C.M.G. to attend the University this evening for the ceremony of conferring degrees, granted an interview to a representative of the China Mail. The distinguished visitor came down from Canton on board a Chinese gun-boat and on coming ashore was met by Mr. R. Ponsonby Fane, the Governor's Private Secretary. The Civil Governor had with him Mr. P. L. Han, aide-de-camp and Mr. T. F. Lin, secretary. The Party was conveyed to Government House by car.

The Civil Governor in the interview with our representative emphasized that peace had been restored throughout Kwangtung and there was now no trouble of any kind. He remarked with apparent satisfaction on the change that had been effected since he came to the Province three months ago. Then unrest, no dissension and military antagonism had put the Kwangtung provinces in a continuous state of uncontrollable alarm. Canton was being assailed on all sides by revolutionary troops, and hundreds of lives were being lost in a struggle for possession of the great Southern capital. The advent of Chu Hing Lan meant the end of the trouble. Carefully and skillfully he set to work to persuade the opposing forces to sink their immediate differences and restore peace to the province. How successful were these conciliatory measures is shown by the fact that the leaders of the revolutionary parties were soon seen within the ancient capital and were heartily welcomed by the officers and people. Since Chu Hing Lan came he has worked with unceasing energy to end strife and put Kwangtung once again in order. The problem has been a huge one and the manner in which he grasped a difficult situation and found a way out satisfactory to all parties has stamped him as a shrewd and capable officer. His first act was to divide the whole of the Kwangtung Province into sections separately governed or controlled, to facilitate the restoration and maintenance of good order. The scheme has worked well and powers are distributed between the Civil and Military Governors. Luk Yung Ting, the Military Governor, has lent his aid to the scheme and for the time being the business of the Province is proceeding quietly. Luk Yung Ting is a native of Kwangsi and followed Lung Chai Kwong, who is at present at Kingchow, Hainan Island, with the whole of his troops. The situation became untenable for him and he petitioned Peking several times regarding what was to become of his soldiers. He pointed out that wages due, together with money contributed out of his own pocket, amounted to $3,000,000, which he contended should be met by Peking. The Civil Governor stated that the claim had been settled and Lung and his men went off to Kingchow. Shum and the foremost of Lung's antagonists has gone to Shanghai and possibly will leave the South alone for a while.

Since the death of Yuan Shi Kai the South had assumed a more peaceful tone. All the people were in favour of Li Yuan Hung and with his accession to the Presidency there was considerable promise. "The north and south were united," business showed steady improvement and by the appointment of Parliament everything is very easily settled," said His Excellency. "I don't think there will be any trouble there. On the whole the outlook for China is very promising. The people generally have accepted Li Yuan Hung, for he is a man of character and virtue."

The Civil Governor was sorry that he could give no definite information regarding the progress of the building of the railway between Hankow and Canton. The shareholders had had a meeting to discuss things but no decision had been arrived at. He was glad to say that piracy on the West River was practically non-existent and had been put in the main to the division of the Province into sections, by that system they hoped to have perfect control over the Province.

Mr. Ho Kwong, who has been a guest of the Civil Governor at Canton, returned with His Excellency on board the Gunboat. The Civil Governor will dine at Government House to-night and leave for Shanghai to-morrow.

HONGKONG ASSOCIATION OF WOMEN WAR WORKERS.

LETTER FROM CAIRO.

27 General Hospital, Cairo, Oct. 25.

DEAR MADAM:—I have received 3 cases of hospital gifts from The H. K. W.W.W. Association. We are especially grateful for the fine and bottles of sweets, they are I think more loved by "Tommy" than his smokes. Also the mosquito squares, caps, socks and cigarettes. We have now with all you have so kindly sent, a good stock of bandages of all kinds and will not need more at present. With our most grateful thanks.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) D. MILLICENT C. MICHELL, (Matron).

As will be seen from above letter, the Hospital at Cairo is well supplied with bandages for the present, so the Committee of the H.K.A.W.W.W. are now sending bandages to the great distributing centre Queen Mary's Needlework Guild and would therefore be earnestly requested to keep up the supply. Any money donations for sweets to be sent to Cairo will be gratefully received by Mrs. Hay, Store Secretary, City Hall.

The Association are much indebted to Mr. Owen Hughes for his very handsome gift of Camel-hair cloth, which is now being made up into waist-coats to be sent to the front.

Our thanks also are due to Mrs. Sim for a box of garments.

CHINESE MARRIAGES.

A BORNEO PROBLEM.

Under the heading, "Chinese Affairs," the Acting Protector of Labour in Borneo writes:—

It is to be regretted that no legislation in the State is applicable to marriages between non-Christian Chinese. I am fully aware that the question has been discussed and dismissed as unfeasible at present, but none the less the large number of cases of a domestic nature which come before the Protectorate require to be dealt with on a more legal basis than can be done under existing circumstances. The Protector of Labour is still looked upon as Protector of Chinese and constant applications are made to him as such, the most common being release from either husband or wife of the case may be. The marriage laws in China may be said to be chiefly accountable for this in cases where the parties have been married in China before their arrival in Borneo, as there is so I am informed, no such thing as divorce in China, but a husband can kill his wife if she commits certain offences; a wife can obtain her freedom in no other way and she has no redress against her husband. The freedom of this country somewhat naturally appeals to incompatible natures, with the result that separations are frequent, and the care of children is a question which is often difficult to decide. A number of cases have been referred to this office from the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, who view the present state of affairs with dismay, and also from the Courts. Abductions from Hongkong have been far less frequent than in former years. Suspicious cases are reported by the Water Police to the Protector for Chinese Affairs, and this office is informed. The matter is then put in the hands of the Police in Borneo for whatever action may be necessary.

THE RAILWAY DISASTER IN JAPAN.

From further particulars published regarding the disastrous railway collision near Morioka, 21 men, including three railway hands, were killed outright, and 55 seriously and 92 slightly injured. Three of those injured have since succumbed to their injuries. The passenger train, which collided with a goods train, was a special train despatched from Shinkawa for the accommodation of new recruits going to the Hirotsuki Division, says the "Japan Chronicle." At the time of the collision there were about 500 recruits and their friends in the train.

The railway authorities attribute the collision to the signalling apparatus being out of order.

The total output of the Kailan Mining Administration's mines for the week ending 2nd December, 1916, amounted to 65,824 tons, and the sales during the period to 54,878 tons.

THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE.

CHAMBERLAIN'S Cough Remedy is the largest selling cough medicine in the world to-day because it does exactly what a cough medicine is supposed to do. It stops coughs and colds, soothes the throat, and relieves the chest. It is sold everywhere. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.

THE GERMAN PEACE OFFER.

BRITISH PUBLIC OPINION.

PROPOSALS UNANIMOUSLY AND EMPHATICALLY REPUDIATED.

London, Dec. 13. Germany's Peace proposals are unanimously and emphatically repudiated by the whole of the British Press.

The Morning Post describes the offer as "a cunning and desperate attempt to forestall the penalty of military failure," and says it is a proposal not for peace, but for an armistice which the Allies are bound to decline, as they did the German request for an armistice last September after the defeat in the Somme region and at Verdun.

The Times regards the offer as a symptom of Germany's conscious weakness. She lamentably failed to induce the United States to offer mediation and now falls back on an indirect offer to the belligerents. The Allies must refuse even to talk about an armistice until the occupied territories are restored and compensated.

The Daily Chronicle says Germany can have peace and day on our terms.

The Daily Telegraph says Germany has reached the zenith of her power. She is on the crest of a wave before the inevitable descent.

The Daily News says the Allies cannot enter into peace negotiations on the basis offered by Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg.

The Daily Mail says Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg is no more entitled to a reply than a burglar in a private house.

ALLIES TO CONSULT.

Reuter learns that there will probably be no official pronouncement on the Peace proposals until the Allies have had a consultation.

Meanwhile the unanimity of the Governments and peoples of the Allies. If the proposals are based, as is shrewdly suspected, on the German pose as victors, they are foredoomed to failure. The offer is regarded as a cunning attempt to sow dissension among the Allies by proposing terms agreeable to some and unacceptable to others. There is also strong evidence of German knowledge that they can never win the war, and have almost run their course. There may still be periods of strain and stress, but no reply is possible except that the war will only end when the objects of the Allies are achieved.

FRENCH OPINION.

A CONTEMPTIBLE MANOEUVRE.

Paris, Dec. 13. The newspapers agree that the peace proposals are a contemptible new manoeuvre with the object of dividing the Allies and influencing opinion in Germany and the Neutral countries. In view of Germany's habit of preparing aggressions under the cover of negotiations it behoves the Allies to beware.

AMERICAN OPINION.

"A PIECE OF POLITICAL CHICANERY."

New York, Dec. 13. The papers agree that the German offer is a piece of political chicanery with the object of bolstering up Germany's cause at home and abroad.

The World says: "Germany officially admits that the war is a failure and that Germany cannot dominate Europe."

The New York Times points out that Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg did not mention the Allied declarations regarding the destruction of Prussian militarism and says the omission is significant and fatal.

STEAMERS SUNK.

London, Dec. 13. The British steamer Tanfield and the Belgian Keltier which were previously reported sunk, have arrived in port. The Norwegian Adger, the Danish Jager, a Swedish schooner and a Danish barque have been sunk.

TERMS OF THE OFFER.

Washington, Dec. 13. Germany proposes the complete restoration of the occupied portions of Belgium and France in return for Germany's Colonies, and the settlement of the Balkan situation by the Peace Conference.

New York, Dec. 13. The evening papers publish a number of alleged German Peace terms. None of the statements are from official sources. The statements include the retention of Serbia by Austria-Hungary, Constantinople by Turkey, the restoration to Bulgaria of all the territory she lost in the second Balkan war, the restoration to Austria of all the territory captured by Italy.

DUTCH OPINION.

PROPOSALS CONNECTED WITH A GRAVE DISPUTE.

Amsterdam, Dec. 13. The Peace proposals are regarded as an admission that the confidence of the Central Powers is shaken, and are connected with rumours of a grave dispute between the Kaiser and the Austrian Emperor.

GERMAN CHANCELLOR OVERCOME
BY HIS EFFORT.

Amsterdam, Dec. 13. A Dutch correspondent, who was present in the Reichstag states that Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg, on the conclusion of his speech, sank into his chair completely overcome and was scarcely conscious of his surroundings.

The Chamber was most excited and the whole city is in a state of high tension.

There were unprecedented crowds outside the Reichstag.

GERMANY'S OFFER AND THREAT TO BELGIUM.

London, Dec. 13. The Daily Telegraph learns from an unimpeachable source that Germany invited Belgium to insist on immediate peace in return for a guarantee of her independence and financial assistance for her rehabilitation. In the event of refusal, Belgium was informed that the existence of her monuments, her public buildings and even her towns was threatened.

THE STRUGGLE IN RUMANIA.

London, Dec. 13. A Russian communiqué states: South of the river Trotus at Moldavia we captured a line of trenches and repulsed counter-attacks with great losses.

The enemy is stubbornly resisting our advance north of Domavatra. The Rumanians took the offensive on the high road between Mizil and Buzau but were obliged to fall back. At present the Rumanian army occupies a front from Buzau to Sarag and Urzitseni.

THE BRITISH PREMIER.

London, Dec. 13. It is officially stated that Mr. Lloyd George presided at a meeting of the War Cabinet. He is still suffering from a chill and his voice is particularly affected. He has been ordered complete rest for a day or two.

THE FRENCH RESIDENT-GENERAL OF MOROCCO.

Paris, Dec. 13. General Gouraud has been appointed Resident-General of Morocco in succession to General Lyautay, who enters the Cabinet as Minister of War.

SPAIN AND BELLIGERENT SUBMARINES.

Madrid, Dec. 13. A Bill has been introduced in the Chamber, prohibiting the refitting of belligerent submarines outside territorial waters. Draconic penalties are provided.

FRENCH PREMIER AND THE SITUATION.

Paris, Dec. 13. M. Briand, in the Chamber of Deputies, outlined the reorganisation of the War Committee with extended powers. "Without exaggerated optimism, we more than ever entertain the conviction and certainty of victory," he said. "It is true that valiant Rumania has been compelled to give way. That was a sad business, but her Army, supported by the Russian Armies, will recover, for the Eastern question is far from settled. To-morrow a new front will be mobilised on the enemy front." The Premier foreshadowed the suppression of spirits. Referring to Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg's speech he said: "It is my duty to put the country's mind on guard against possible poisoning." (Loud cheers.)

GERMAN CASUALTIES.

NEARLY 4,000,000 SINCE THE OUTBREAK.

London, Dec. 13. The German casualties are officially reported for November as 166,178, of which 28,729 represent killed, making the total during the war 3,021,880, of which 889,937 were killed.

CHANGES IN THE FRENCH HIGH COMMAND.

London, Dec. 13. There are rumours pending of changes in the French High Command, including the supersession of General Joffre, who will be given the rank of Marshal and the Presidency of the Allied War Board; General Nivelle, the captor of Douaumont (aged sixty), and a colonel at the outbreak of War will become Generalissimo; General Castelnau, General Joffre's Chief of Staff, is also retiring. General Painleve will become War Minister in succession to General Roques who presumably will be given a command in the field.

Paris, Dec. 13. General Joffre becomes Generalissimo at home and abroad.

General Nivelle is appointed Generalissimo of the Western Front. Admiral Gauthier replaces Admiral de Fourmet in command of the Allied Naval forces in Greek waters.

It is officially announced that General Nivelle has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the armies of the North and North-east.

LIVELY FIGHTING NORTH OF MONASTIR.

Paris, Dec. 13. A French communiqué reports lively fighting north of Monastir and that the Italians repulsed a Bulgarian attack.

REPRISAL ADVOCATED.

London, Dec. 13. The Times states that Great Britain should immediately intimate to Germany that if an attempt to harm Captain Blake (of the Anchor liner Calcutta) is made, a German officer prisoner of the highest rank will be treated similarly.

CALM ON THE WEST FRONT.

London, Dec. 13. A French communiqué states that there is comparative calm along the whole of the West front.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

London, Dec. 13. The Irish Party has resolved to await the declaration of the Government's Irish policy before deciding its attitude towards the Government. It has passed a resolution, declaring itself in favour of the vigorous prosecution of the War; redemanding Home Rule, the abolition of martial law in Ireland, and reaffirming its hostility towards conscription.

GREAT FIRE AT CANADIAN FACTORY.

Ottawa, Dec. 12. There were four killed, twelve are missing and fifteen were injured in a fire at the Quaker Oats factory, Peterboro, Ontario, and the damage is estimated at $300,000.

ADAM, THE WAR AND THE GOLD.

A Cambridge wrangler is reported to have been counting up the cost of the war to Great Britain. He says that if Adam were still living, and had from the Creation to the present day, spent his time throwing sovereigns into the sea at the rate of 50 per hour, day and night, he would not yet have reached the total we have spent in the present war. His calculations are based on the chronology of the Old Testament. "Church Family News."

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

GERMANY AND PEACE.

GERMAN CHANCELLOR'S
BOMBASTIC STATEMENT.

Amsterdam, Dec. 12. The Reichstag was crowded, and the galleries were thronged when Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Chancellor, rose to speak.

He said: "I shall be brief. Rumania entered the war to roll up our position and that of our Ally in the East. Simultaneously, there was a grand offensive on the Somme intended to pierce our Western front, while renewed Italian attacks were meant to paralyse Austro-Hungary. The situation was serious, but by God's help, our troops withstood all attacks."

The Western front not only stands, but, despite the Rumanian campaign, is equipped with larger reserves of men and material than formerly. But while the Somme and Carso driftings resounded, and the Russians lauded troops on the Eastern frontier of Transylvania, General von Hindenburg captured the whole of western Wallachia and Bukharest, great stocks of grain, victuals and oil falling into our hands. Thus by a sword stroke, the whole of the foundations of our economic needs have been laid. Our submarines have added to their heroic deeds, and the famine spectre which our enemies intended for us now mercilessly pursues them. After the first year's war the Kaiser said his heart was filled with awe and determination. That is how we feel now. If the enemy counted on our weakness then he is deceived."

The Chancellor went on to say: "The German Empire is not a beleaguered fortress, but a mighty army camp which has not exhausted its resources. Our armies have evaded their previous declarations of readiness for peace, but the Kaiser considers the moment has arrived for an official peace, moved in the highest moral and religious sense, and by duty towards his people and to mankind. Our enemies brought up the mighty question of a world war in 1914; to-day we put before humanity the question of peace. We await our enemy's reply with the calm which our external and internal strength and a clear conscience confer. If our enemies decline, and if they wish to assume the world burden of horrors that ensue, then every German heart will blaze up anew with holy wrath."

The Chancellor concluded by intimating that they had asked the representatives of the United States, Spain and Switzerland, as the guardians of Germany's interests abroad, to transmit the peace proposals previously mentioned, and the Pope had also been informed.

APPLAUSE AND HAND-CLAPPING. The Reichstag greeted the Chancellor's reading of the Note with applause and hand-clapping, in which the Extremists joined. The adjournment was then voted, a section of the House unsuccessfully demanding that there should be no delay in the discussion of the Chancellor's speech.

THE PEACE NOTES.

WHAT THEY CONTAIN.

Amsterdam, Dec. 12. The Notes proposing peace negotiations state: "The proposals which the Central Powers and their Allies will bring to the negotiations are, they are convinced, suitable for the basis of a lasting peace. If, despite this offer, fighting should continue, we are determined to bring the war to a victorious end, but solemnly decline every responsibility therefor."

The Notes further state that the Quadruple Group have proved their unconquerable strength, have won mighty successes over the enemy, that they are superior in numbers and war material, and that their lines unshakably withstand ever-repeated attacks. The latest assault in the Balkans has been quickly wrecked, and the latest evasions of the Quadruple Group's powers of resistance are unbreakable. The entire situation justifies the expectation of further successes. The glorious deeds of armies of the Quadruple Powers have not altered the fact that the Quadruple Group were compelled to take up arms to defend their existence. Their aim, however, is not to crush or to destroy their enemies, and they are proposing peace negotiations supported by the consciousness of their military and economic strength.

THE NOTE TO THE POPE.

Amsterdam, Dec. 13. The German Note to the Pope dwells on the war's losses and misery, including those of neutrals, and declares that Europe, as the seat of civilisation, is threatened with destruction, in which Germany is defensively warring. The Note hopes that the Holy See will benevolently echo, and valuably assist Germany's peace initiative.

THE KAISER'S ARMY ORDER.

Amsterdam, Dec. 12. The Kaiser has issued an Army Order in which he says: "In sentiment of the victory which you have gained by your bravery, I, and the Monarchs of the three allied States, have made the enemy a peace offer. It is uncertain whether the aim we have in view will be attained. You have therefore to continue to resist defeat by the enemy."

NATURE OF THE OFFER.

Washington, Dec. 12. Berlin advices to the German Embassy indicate that Germany has proposed the restoration of the status quo before the war, accepting the establishments of independent kingdoms of Poland and Lithuania.

AMERICAN OPINION.

Washington, Dec. 13. It is stated at the White House that President Wilson is reserving comment on the peace proposals until he learns how the Entente Powers receive them.

Officials express the opinion that the Central Powers are making overtures because they are convinced that there is no hope of President Wilson at present making advances.

Neutral diplomats doubt that any peaceable results may be expected from Germany's somewhat theatrical suggestion.

GERMAN VIEW OF MR. LLOYD GEORGE.

Amsterdam, Dec. 13. The Berliner Tageblatt states that Mr. Lloyd George is a man of the greatest energy and determination, and his appointment means war to the end.

AUSTRALIA'S DETERMINATION.

Melbourne, Dec. 13. Mr. Pearce, Minister of State for Defence, in the course of a speech, forecasted a national organisation, and declared that the Government was determined to do its utmost to send reinforcements, material and munitions. Australia should send every bushel of wheat possible overseas.

His speech was loudly cheered.

THE WESTERN FRONT.

SUCCESSFUL BRITISH MINING.

London, Dec. 12. General Sir Douglas Haig reports: There have been successful mining operations southward of Ypres. There has been enemy artillery firing opposite Festubert and at Netive Chapelle. An enemy ammunition dump at Vimy was fired. We bombarded, retaliatorily, the enemy's support-lines northward of the Ancre.

ARTILLERY WORK SOUTH OF THE SOMME.

Paris, Dec. 12. An official message says: South of the Somme there has been brisk reciprocal artillery firing in the Blaches and La Maisonnette sectors.

GERMAN LOSSES IN THE SOMME REGION.

Paris, Dec. 13. It is estimated that the German losses in the Somme region since July 1st have been 660,000.

A MONTH'S ARTILLERY DUEL.

Paris, Dec. 13. A French correspondent states that there has been a mutual bombardment on the Western front, which has been the most violent since the beginning of the battle of the Somme. The cannonading has been most intense not only on both banks of the Ancre, but also from Loos to Ypres. The duel has now lasted for a month.

THE HUMANITARIAN STRUGGLE.

GERMANY CLAIMS 10,000
PRISONERS IN THREE DAYS.

Amsterdam, Dec. 12. A German official message says: We have captured Mizil, halfway between Ploesti Buzen and Urzitseni, and thirty miles south-east of Ploesti. We have taken 10,000 prisoners in three days, and captured several guns and much war material.

GERMAN RULE IN RUMANIA.

HEAVY WAR TAXES.

London, Dec. 13. The Times correspondent at Jassy states that the Germans have levied a war tax of £2,000,000 on Craiova. The levy on Bucharest will be on a double scale.

DOWN WITH THE KING.

SCENES AT SALONIKA.

London, Dec. 13. Provisional Government telegrams from Salonika state that at a Requiem Mass the congregation often interrupted the officiating Bishop by shouting "Down with the King; down with the German Field-Marshal; down with the murderer of his own countrymen; down with the traitor!"

The inhabitants of Candia have passed a resolution declaring that King Constantine should be deposed, and delivered over to the curses of the Greek race.

BRITISH VOLUNTEER BILL.

London, Dec. 13. The House of Lords passed the Volunteer Bill and then adjourned until the 14th inst.

SIR EDWARD CARSON AND NATIONAL ORGANISATION.

London, Dec. 13. Sir Edward Carson, in a letter resigning the Chairmanship of the Unionist War Committee, says that the example set by our enemies of national terrorism can only be successfully combated by similar action on our part.

AUSTRALIA'S WHEAT SUPPLY.

Sydney, Dec. 13. Adverse influences threaten to appreciably reduce the wheat crop. That of New South Wales may be only half of the original estimate. Victoria is also much below expectations.

ITALIANS REPULSE AN ENEMY ATTACK.

London, Dec. 12. An official Italian statement reports that the enemy attempted to attack Dossovecchia, to the south-west of Loppio, but were repulsed. Bad weather in the Carso impeded the artillery.

PROHIBITING COCAINE AND OPIUM.

London, Dec. 13. A Proclamation prohibits the importation of opium and cocaine into the United Kingdom, except by licensed

INCENDIARISM IN AMERICA.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.

In connection with the explosion in the plant of the Aetna Chemical Company at Fort Pitt, where three persons were killed, the Federal authorities at Pittsburgh have arrested a suspect, and are seeking three others, believed to be Germans regularly engaged for causing explosions in munition works in the United States.

SHIPPING IN PANAMA CANAL.

MORE BRITISH VESSELS USE
WATERWAY THAN AMERICAN.

Though the Panama Canal was closed by a landslide for seven months during the year ended June last, the number of ocean-going vessels using the waterway was 787, with an aggregate net tonnage of 2,479,761, while the total cargo carried through the canal was 3,140,048 tons. Of the 787 vessels according to the report of our Consul at Colon, 354 were British and 238 American, the next most important nationality being Norway with 45.

An interesting fact is the large fall-off in the United States coastwise trade in recent months. Since the reopening on April 15 only 11 ships, with a tonnage of 37,706, passed through, this being less than a sixth of the average before the landslide.

With the closing of the canal, the vessels of the interrupted coastwise services were diverted to a great extent to the foreign trade, in which they have been kept by the prevailing high freight.

BIG FIRE IN OSAKA.

On Nov. 29th at 6 p.m. a fire broke out in a warehouse at the rear of the Osaka Customs branch close to the Osaka Chikko Pier. The godown was one of the City of Osaka's largest. The fire spread with great rapidity and in less than two hours the contents, consisting of raw cotton principally, and the warehouse, were entirely destroyed. The fire soon spread to an adjoining building occupied by the Osaka Customs. There was no loss of water, but as there is no fire brigade station in the vicinity, it was 11 o'clock before two pumps reached the scene. By 11:20 o'clock the Customs building, which could have been saved, had been reduced to ashes. The loss is serious. The warehouse, which covered an area of 604,440 sq. ft., being valued at Yen 20,000, while the contents are put down at Yen 300,000. The Customs building at Yen 20,000.
